NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Shooting of President McKinley.

It is very bad news which we publish this evening by the courtesy of Mr. ALLEN, Mr. MCKINLEY, the President of the United States of America has been shot and is not expected to recover. At present no details of the crime are to hand, but we have little doubt but that the assassin will turn out to be one of some band of anarchists, for it must not be forgotten that at the time of the assassination of the late Empress, of Austria the life of President MCKINLEY was said to be in danger. These assassinations are now becoming far too common and it behooves the people of the various States and countries in which these assassins work to take steps for their suppression. They must be wiped out and destroyed and treated generally as we treat other vermin. It is not too much to say that no ruler is safe at the present day. On the 10th September, 1898, the Empress of Austria, a woman beloved by everybody, was assassinated. On the 29th July, 1900, the King of Italy, as good a ruler as could be found in Europe, was assassinated. Yesterday the President of the United States, against whom nobody ought to have had a grudge of any sort, was shot by an assassin, and so makes the third ruler to suffer at the hands of the anarchists within three years. These people do themselves no good by thus wreaking their spite upon innocent persons. Some wrong-minded folk may look upon them as heroes, but the generality of mankind view them as social parasites of which the world would be well rid, and we trust that this latest crime will lead to some international arrangement being come to for the hunting down of these people. A prison is the only safe place for them.

We earnestly trust that President MCKINLEY's state will prove not to be so serious as is stated by the very brief telegram now to hand, but we fear that there is not much room for hope. His death will be a great blow to the United States and will, indeed, have wide reaching effects, for it will mean that the country will be once more plunged into the throes of a Presidential Election, a thing which is looked upon by most Americans as being in the nature of a calamity. We may see another party in power in the United States and this may mean a change of policy. At all events the death of President MCKINLEY would have a great effect upon the situation in the Philippines. It must not be forgotten how great were the hopes of the Filipinos at the last election approached. They looked upon the election of Mr. BRYAN as meaning independence for them, and Mr. MCKINLEY's return to office was regarded as a calamity. How the grave news will be received by them it is impossible to say, but in all probability the death of the President would mean that districts which have now been brought under American control would once more rise in arms, and another struggle for liberty would take place. We most sincerely hope that Mr. MCKINLEY will recover, for his death at the present moment is bound to lead to complications of one sort or another.

Reform.

The edicts quoted by our Canton Correspondent certainly point towards reform, but we fear that they will never be carried out. It must not be forgotten that the great majority of the higher posts throughout China are held by men of conservative views, and they will interpret the edict directing them to promote those who have a knowledge of western methods in their own way. Another thing which must not be forgotten is the fact that there will be so few men to promote on account of their Western knowledge. At the time of the coup d'etat a general wedding but of all who had leanings towards reform took place, and hence we fancy that the edict will be of little effect. The edicts have, as our Correspondent points out, a distinct resemblance to those which cost the unfortunate Emperor his liberty, but it is too early yet to build any hopes on this fact. In all probability they are merely thrown out by the Empress Dowager as a blind to cover some great scheme of hers. Even the Chinese have very little hope of seeing any reforms instituted so long as the Dowager holds the reins. We were told the other day by a very well informed Chinaman that there could be no hope of China doing any good for herself during the lifetime of the Empress. She would be frightened to institute reforms and would take care that others were prevented from doing so. We were also assured that the Reformers themselves were helpless without foreign aid. Any rising that they might attempt would be sure to be suppressed immediately, unless they had some strong Power at their backs which would lend them real aid by which the present dynasty might be overthrown, and the Reformers have little hope of obtaining such help.

THE CUSTOMS GAZETTE, for April, 1901, has been sent to us by the Commissioner of Customs here, and it is, as usual, full of very interesting statistics regarding the trade of China during the period under review.

27,000 DESIGNS have already been received for the Australian Commonwealth flag, for which the prize is £150. The figures are simply stupefying. The Commonwealth Ode Competition produced, it was said, some 300 poetical effusions.

THE VENGANCE, BATTLESHIP, which is being hastened forward at Portsmouth for service on the China Station, is to be ready for her gun trials by the first week in September. Her 12 in. guns can be loaded at any degree of training and elevation.

THE RETURNS from the Pabang Corporation Mines for the month of July were as follows:—Sungei Lembing: tons of stone crushed 2,054; oxide of tin produced 56 tons; with 40 head of stamps running for 28 days, and working expenses set at $23,500.

THE FAILURE season has set in at Bangkok, the first firm to "go under" being a Chinese store keeper. The liabilities are estimated at about Tes. 50,000, the principal creditors being French, German and Italian importing houses. The estate is expected to realise a dividend of from 50 to 60 per cent.

A STRAITS PAPER says that several Malays who removed themselves and their families to Ulu Kelantan during the disturbances of 1894, have lately come back to their old villages in the Tembeling. After a long experience of both the States, they assert that Pahang under British Protection is better to live in than Kelantan under the present regime.

WE LEARN, says the Union (Shanghai), that the condition of the Ewo jetty at Swatow is unworthy of the princely house. Not having seen it ourselves we can hardly credit the statement that large nails protrude along the whole length of it, and that the holes in the planking must eventually lead to an accident if no immediate repair is made. The Customs' officers, we are informed, dread their night duty when it takes them over this dilapidated structure. The gangway used to board the ships is an ordinary plank with battens across; no hand railing. A hand-rope is sometimes placed but it is a poor substitute for the right thing. Such a state of affairs should be impossible.

SIR PERTAB SINGH, one of the Indian pointalotes to receive honours for services in China, where he led his gallant regiment of Jodhpur Lancers, will be remembered as the lion of the Jubilee says an exchange. Not even "Coch Behar" is a more popular prince among British officers and civilians in India. He it was who introduced polo into the English army, and regimental teams are among his constant visitors at Jodhpur, where Sir Pertab not only entertains, but coaches them, as well. Though he is now sixty, he often plays himself, and only last year met with a nasty accident through getting his foot into the stirrup of a fellow-player, both men having been thrown out at the same moment.

BANGKOK, according to the Stam Free Press, is even worse from a sanitary point of view than Hongkong. After quoting a leading article of ours on filth it says:—"If Messrs. Chatham and May, whoever those worthy gentlemen are, (Sanitary Inspectors, we presume) paid a visit to Bangkok they could not find 'see dirt' but they might wade through swamps of filth and sink in almost all quarters of the city wherever they turn their face. Even if they were slow to see it, the terrible stench would help to remind them of it at every turn. But what deplorable ignorance our Bangkok contemporaries show in presuming that Messrs. Chatham and May are Sanitary Inspectors! When it comes this paragraph we hope to see a profuse apology for thus belittling two of our shining lights."

THE MAULIFFE SLAVIN EXHIBITION TO-NIGHT.

Messrs. Mauliffe and Slavin have been very busy all day perfecting the arrangements for to-night's entertainment. They hope there will be no disappointments in the way of those advertised not turning up. We hear there will be an item of interest to the community generally that has not been billed. We feel sure, that considering the reputation of the men engaged and the favourable impression, by their conduct, they have made in Hongkong, a bumper house will greet them to night. For convenience Mr. Bruce Gardyne will be in attendance at the Hongkong Hotel from 5 p.m. till 7.30 to provide any one with tickets, if they have not already secured them. It is particularly requested that the audience, should be in 'good time' so that the exhibition, should not be interrupted by late arrivals. The programme will be carried out in the strictest and most business like manner and Messrs. Mauliffe and Slavin rely on their patrons to assist them in keeping perfect order.

VICTORIA RECREATION CLUB SPORTS.

SECOND DAY.

A good programme was arranged for the second day's racing and was witnessed by a fairly large gathering of members and friends. Just before the start of the first race a launch arrived bringing His Excellency the Governor and the Hon. J. H. Stewart Lockhart. They were met at the landing by Mr. G. E. Sargent and conducted to their seats, but we were rather surprised to notice that there was no acknowledgement of their presence by the audience. The weather was delightfully calm and just suited the sport. The races in every event were well contested, some very close finishes being witnessed. The intervals between the races were too long but with the same men entering for each event this, no doubt, was unavoidable.

The first item was:—
1.—4.30 p.m. CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE COLONY, 200 Yards (Six Lengths). Open to All-comers. 1st Prize Presented by R. G. She-wen, Esq., and Prize Presented.

This produced five starters viz:—

L. M. Rosa Pereira.
N. H. Alves.
A. E. S. Alves.
A. A. Alves.
Frank Jorge.

This was the best race of the day. All got off to an excellent start. A. A. Alves showed first in front, being about a yard ahead of his brothers, A. E. S. and N. H. At the end of the first length, the same positions were held in the second length, Pereira and Jorge going strong about six feet behind the leaders. At the turn for the final, Jorge and Pereira gave up. A. A. was a good yard ahead and looked as if he had the race in hand, but he unaccountably seemed to tire and N. H. with a final spurt passed him, winning a capital race by a yard. A. E. S. was close up third. Time 2 minutes 41 4/5 sec.

N. H. Alves 1
A. A. Alves 2
A. E. S. Alves 3
2.—5.00 p.m.—SWIM UNDER WATER.—Two Prizes. (The distance is calculated to the point where the water is first broken by any part of the body.)

Eight competitors plunged for this event but no one could come near last year's winner A. Humphreys, whose first dive and swim won the contest; the distances of the first three were:—
A. Humphreys 143 feet.
M. A. Razack 120 "
F. M. Rosa Pereira 104 "

3.—5.30 p.m.—FOUR LENGTHS HANDICAP.

Second Heat.
First and Second in each Heat to Swim in the Final.

1. M. A. Razack Go.
2. F. K. Tata Twoes 6 sec.
3. S. R. Moore " 8 "
4. C. M. S. Alves " 8 "
5. J. M. Rosa Pereira " 16 "
6. Frank Jorge " 18 "
7. A. A. Alves " 23 "

At the start Razack went away in the lead and held it until the third length when he gave up. A. A. Alves swam a splendidly timed race, just finishing a yard ahead, with Moore second and Tata third. Time 2 minutes 1 4/5 sec.

S. R. Moore 2
C. M. S. Alves 3
4.—5.45 p.m.—BOYS' RACE, (11 to 14 years of age) 2 Lengths (Handicap).—Two Prizes.

Post entries.
This event excited a good deal of interest, especially when it was seen that a very diminutive sportsman belonging to the Alves family was scratch. A very good race ensued, the little scratch man winning in the very creditable time 63 sec., Ribeiro being a good second.

5.—6 p.m.—TEAM RACE.

Station No. 1. Station No. 2.

N. H. Alves A. A. Alves

E. R. Millar C. M. S. Alves
A. J. Mackie A. J. Pereira
M. A. Razack L. E. Lammer
W. T. Andrews G. B. Ruby

There was a very good turn up for this event and all competitors were punctually on the mark. A. A. Alves team won with a fair amount in hand.

The programme for this afternoon should attract a large attendance and an excellent afternoon's sport is anticipated.

THE SANITARY BOARD.

To THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG TELEGRAPH":
SIR,—I think every resident in the Colony will welcome the comprehensive scheme against the plague laid down by Dr. Atkinson on Thursday last at the Sanitary Board Meeting. It is such a pleasure to forget the useless babble of talk that distinguished the meetings of the Board in the past and read the details of the carefully thought out, practicable plan of campaign of the President of the Board. To carry out the scheme in its entirety, as your leader in last night's issue pointed out, the Board must unanimously back up the President. This ought not to be a hard matter, but some of the members, judging from the past deliberations of the Board, appear unable to accept the suggestions and opinion of the medical members of the Board, who, from their training, are far better able to judge the sanitary measures to be taken to combat the plague than themselves. In a campaign of this kind the lay members of the Board must, or should, know that their opinions are of no value whatever, may, not worth the few lines of paper they are occasionally printed on, but that the opinions of the medical members are worthy of every consideration. No one wants to know, what, say, the Honourable the Minister for Communications, thinks about the matter. He may be a good man in his own Department, but when the honourable gentleman talks about the measures to be taken to combat the plague, it is a wonder the walls of the room do not fall down. Might I therefore, respectfully suggest that the lay members of the Board, amidst the applause of the long suffering public, give Dr. Atkinson their silent support. It will, no doubt, be a hard struggle at first to refrain from talking, but after a little while, it will come easy. Give Dr. Atkinson your whole support. If he says a certain course is necessary, adopt it. If he says black is white, endorse him. If he says white is no colour, agree with him. It is far better to have a capable leader who may occasionally make mistakes, than the useless deliberation of the Board we are so accustomed to in the past.

Yours, etc,

Hongkong, September 7th, 1901.

AT THE MAGISTRACY.

A CURIOUS CHARGE.

Chan To was charged with being a watchman for street gamblers. The defendant denied it, but was sent to prison for six weeks' hard labour in default of paying a fine of $25.

ABSAULTING THE POLICE.

Abraham Cornelison, of Norway, was wanted for assaulting the police. He was absent and his bail of $10 was estreated.

UNLAWFUL.

Tang Ting charged Ho Ng with being unlawful on his premises. He said, he was Excise Officer No. 160. This morning at 3.50 a.m. he was coming back to the Opium Farmer's shop. The door was closed but not locked. He opened the door and found two men standing one on each side. He asked them what they wanted and they ran away. He ran after them and caught the defendant. The defendant went to prison for fourteen days.

STEALING FROM THE PERSON.

Chan See was up for stealing from Leung Kwan while he was asleep. Leung Kwan said he was a fishmonger. He was sleeping last night in the street. About 3.30 a.m. he got up and found his purse was gone. The defendant was there and he (the witness) seized hold of him. The purse was found by the district watchman.

The defendant was sent to gaol for one month.

STEALING.

Chen Lam went to prison for three weeks' hard labour for being in possession of some clothing he could not account for. Sergt. McSwade had charge of the case and sheeted it home.

AMERICAN CONSULS.

BISHOP POTTER OF NEW YORK USES "LANGUAGE THAT'S FREE."

Bishop Potter of New York does not stop to allow his ideas or opinions to ferment before expressing them; but they are frequently very much to the point. When he described an incident with a Jirikiasha man in Singapore wherein the latter clamored for eight annas or some similar Indian emolument, he demonstrated his disregard for the deceptive verisimilitudes of detail. Nevertheless there are several persons holding consular appointments under Uncle Sam who would win at the force of the subjoined remarks, had they any capacity for winning. The Bishop says:—"There is as much of grace and elegance in the behaviour of a bull in a China shop as knowledge, intelligence, politeness, and broad-mindedness on the part of the U. S. consular service. We are represented abroad by a few courteous, discreet, and able men; but the majority of our consuls misrepresent the American people. Lazy, shiftless ne'er-do-wells, they have been exported to get rid of them by relatives and friends who have some political, social or other "pull" in Washington. Some are like Old Eccles; their mission in life is to drink themselves to death as soon as possible, and they devote themselves to this instead of attending to the business of their department. With first-rate consuls, appointed during good behaviour, the commercial profits of the United States could be largely increased, the dignity of the Nation maintained and the interests of travellers protected. As it is, nobody ever thinks of consulting an American consul about any thing, and in some stations the other American residents do not even know him by name."

DESERTION FROM SHIPS.

The Times of Argentina says:—

The cause of desertion is embodied in the crimp or land-shark. He entices the sailor to go ashore. He supplies him with the necessary drink to induce him to desert. He frequently keeps him in an incalculable condition and, practically, hidden until the vessel clears, and he robs him of the whole advance-money secured on re-engagement. In order to cure the disease, the germ must be destroyed. The germ in this case—the crimp—is putrid enough to need cauterisation. The British Consul and steamship agent should, therefore, get straight to the cancer with their sharpest knives. There is no reason why the Government should not co-operate in that sense. On the contrary, it is a clear case of defending the weak against the sharper, and the Government is in duty bound to co-operate. Crimps and their satellites are constantly hovering around ships in docks. Deserters are, invariably, induced by such sharks to step ashore. Once on shore, the task of the shark is an easy one, a bottle of Bode gin being the persuasive argument. The officer on duty must necessarily see what is going on between the crimp on shore and the men on board, albeit he may be unable to prevent the inevitable result. It would not be a difficult matter to get the Government to pass a law to punish men who wilfully induce sailors to desert their ship, and it would not be difficult to establish in such law that proof of such wilful inducement is had by the written evidence of an officer of the ship, fully confirmed by the written evidence of a Custom-House officer. It is a known fact that all ships have a permanent Custom-House officer on board while in dock. When a crimp is seen hovering about a ship the officer on duty should call the attention of the Custom-House officer, after which it would not be difficult to establish that desertion has been caused by wilful enticement, and if the punishment be sufficiently severe and strictly carried out, the crimp-trade would soon come to an end, deserters would become less in number day by day, and one of the greatest evils which seamen are subjected to would gradually disappear. It is to that course of action that agents and Consuls should direct their influence and energy.

WINDJAMMERS AND STEAMERS.

"Sailing-ship Owner" writes to Fairplay "I must dispute the accuracy of 'V. W. L.'s statement that living for mates is infinitely better in steamers than in sailing-ships, so far as all events as ordinary tramps are concerned. I have managed both classes of vessels, and have invariably supplied the same class of provisions to both, though in the case of the steamers Board of Trade inspection was unnecessary, as they did not trade round the Cape, which the sailors did. As to employment in steam being so much better than in sail, that depends greatly on what trades the steamer is employed in. For instance, what life can be harder than that on board a modern steam boat of burden running on time-charter in the Atlantic trade during the winter months? A former sailing-ship master of mine, who commanded a boat of this description, told me lately that nothing in all his sailing-ship experience could be compared with the discomforts and slavery of such a life—while another who got into a liner as fourth officer, after pegging away for a considerable time with only a single step up the ladder, came to me begging to be reinstated in the command of the ship which he had resigned for what appeared to him at the time the more attractive employment of the two—only to find that all is not gold that glitters. Sailing-ship officers are no doubt longer at sea than their steamer counterparts are as a rule, but it must not be forgotten that they are also much longer in port, and the one counterbalances the other so far as being in touch with the outer world is concerned, but unfortunately it would seem that a long stay in port is conducive to the formation of the drinking habits which I have already complained of as being only too prevalent amongst sailing-ship officers of the present day."

CLERKS AND UNSKILLED WORKMEN NOT WANTED IN S. AFRICA.

The question of 'emigration' to South Africa has attracted so much attention of late that the Cape Government has sent two delegates, Dr. Hutcheon and Mr. E. Pillans, to co-operate with Mr. Lewis Atkinson in dealing with this important matter. It should at once be stated there is no room in Cape Colony for the ordinary clerk or unskilled workman. Of the former there are already a number, and the latter cannot compete, under existing circumstances, with the coloured races. There is a demand for skilled men in the building trades at Cape Town and the other large towns; but they should take some money with them. A few good locomotive engine-drivers, under 35 years of age, who have had at least one year's experience in driving, are wanted; as also are platelayers on the Natal Government railways. Generally speaking, the skilled artisan, of whatever trade, has but little difficulty in obtaining remunerative employment at all times, and a sober and energetic man, who is able and willing to turn his hand to anything that presents itself until something more congenial appears, will invariably succeed. So says the Imperial Institute Journal for August.

CHRISTMAS ISLAND.

Some interesting particulars of the new phosphate industry of this island (a dependency of the Straits Settlements, and 200 miles south-west of Java) are given in a Colonial Report (Annual No. 319) prepared by Mr. C. L. Clayton, the Government Commissioner deputed to visit the island. In this report he says that the phosphate is at present only being worked at or near the summit of Phosphate Hill.

The coolies remove it from the ground where it lies in blocks, and throw it into iron trucks; these run down a slight incline to the head of a double line of rails, which descend for a distance of about 500 yards at a gradient of 1 in 4. The full trucks are connected with the empty ones at the bottom of the incline by a wire rope which passes round a drum fitted with a hand-brake. At the bottom of the railway the trucks, each with a coolie in charge, run down a slight incline for about 300 yards to the head of another single line of rails, which has a passing place of about 100 yards of double line. The length of this line is about 1½ miles, and the gradient about 1 in 10. An extremely powerful hand-brake acts upon the drum, and the trucks can be brought to a standstill in a short distance. The loaded trucks run right on to a wooden platform, and the phosphate is then tipped out of them down a shoot. Coolies at the bottom transfer the stones to wooden trucks running to the water's edge, which are emptied down a metal-lined shoot into boats. By this system as much as 330 tons can be loaded into a steamer in a day. It is stated that plant is on its way out for converting the single line on the principal rail into a double line, and also for starting a system of aerial haulage, by which the phosphate can be taken in buckets from the wooden platform at the foot of the principal rail direct to the landing-point, and, if possible, right on to the ship's deck. A crane has been brought out and a base is being prepared for it. This crane will swing buckets 75 feet clear of the cliff. But Mr. Clayton thinks it is doubtful whether masters of steamers will be willing to bring their boats in sufficiently close for this to be used.

At the time of Mr. Clayton's visit the inhabitants of the island consisted of four Europeans, one Eurasian and his wife and child, and 551 Asiatics, of whom 447 were coolies.

Practically no exploration has been attempted so far, but it is hoped that this year a road may be cut right through the island, with branch tracks running out on each side. Two kinds of phosphate are found, lump phosphate and granulated phosphate, like coarse sand; the latter is said to be slightly the more valuable of the two, but, so far, none of it has been shipped, as it cannot be dealt with by the existing arrangement. A large number of pits have been dug on Phosphate Hill, and the quantity of phosphate discovered is said to be enormous. In some cases at a depth of 40 feet the bottom of the deposits has not yet been reached. To a depth of three feet the lump phosphate can be picked out and will not need washing; for the next seven feet washing will probably be advisable, although not necessary. Below that depth washing will be necessary until the granular phosphate is reached. This will not require washing and can be exported in bulk in its present condition. The latest estimate of the amount of phosphate on Prospect Hill is 12,000,000 tons. No prospecting has been done in other parts of the island, but it is known that phosphate exists.

With regard to the trade, the amount of phosphate exported in 1899 was 10 tons, while the total in ten months of 1900 is given as 28,017 tons. Large shipments to San Francisco and Australia were expected to be made this year, and 16,000 tons have already been sold to Japan to be delivered between June, 1900, and June, 1901. Mr. Clayton estimates that the quantity exported during this year will reach 175,000 tons as compared with 37,000 tons in 1900, though the manager states that he intends shipping 200,000 tons this year.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

Having noticed, Mr. Editor, what a Biding, lot of the Hongkong "bloods" are taking to equestrian exercise of late,
I thought that perhaps some of them would like to have a few simple hints on riding.

1. Always get up on the left-hand side of a horse. This is called the near side because it is not so far to the saddle as on the other.
The right side is called the off, but that does not mean you are expected to get down that way. People only do so when forced to dismount hurriedly. Of course if you have a lame horse he may be lower on the off side, but still it is better to follow the fashion as I have set it down.

2. Hold your reins in your left hand; never use both, as it is not at all necessary to pull the animal's head off. If you find that you can't guide your mount with only one hand, get some friend to give you a lead. Concealing a carrot in the tailfeathers of the other horse will ensure yours following in a docile manner.

3. The riding whip, or crop, is carried in the right hand. It is better to make the acquaintance of your mount before you use it, as some horses have an unaccountable objection to it.
A crop with a lash on it looks smart, but is apt to be a nuisance by getting entangled with your spurs.

4. Riding breeches may be made of any strong material. These made of strong Bedford cord and seated with cobbler's wax or birdlime are safest for beginners. It is not considered good taste to show more than fourteen pearl buttons above your boots.

5. Field Service leggings are the best. They look smart and the molo men mistake you for an officer, and salute. This is particularly pleasing to your lady friends.

6. In selecting spurs the beginner had better buy a pair of strong ones of the hunting variety. Have the rowels taken out and replaced by ten cent pieces and then—leave them at home.

I will think of some more hints later on.

I see some misguided Kow-

"Of Excellent locale has been writing to Quality." the China Mail about the Kowloon water supply and wanting to know where the Government Analyst gets his samples. I can't answer this question, Mr.

Editor, but I can tell that Kowloonite that he ought to be devoutly thankful to be allowed to have any water at all. If he goes and writes to the papers in this grumbling and petty-minded

spirit, he will have the all-powerful Water

Authority come down and cut off his supply altogether. Besides, even if he does have to pay highly for his water, why should he growl?

I have seen some samples of Kowloon water of late, and really I have never before seen anything like them. One man I know in Kowloon used to have beautiful white hair and they always let him carry the collection bag round

in Church on account of his venerable appearance. Now his hair has turned a beautiful rusty red and they have taken the collection away from him for fear of accidents. The same man used to have to take a quart of iron tonic every morning before he came to Kowloon, but since taking to the water laid on there he has developed a cast iron stomach. Another friend of mine who lives over there has made some moulds and is now filling them with Kowloon steel. He says that if the moulds are opened after a week the contents are like Harveyized

steel and that he is selling his moulded water to the Naval Authorities made up into armour-piercing shot. Another Kowloonite writes to me as follows:—"Dear Gilah, Since I have come to Kowloon and taken to washing in the water laid on at my house I have developed a moulded fist." Yet some folks complain of this excellent tonic. The only thing against it is its richness, but if a man's stomach is not strong enough to take it neat, he can always dilute it with whisky.

Have you noticed, Mr. Editor,

Fashion, how fashionable knickerbockers are becoming just now? Yesterday I saw a rather dusky gentleman in a very sweet check pair. They were cut very baggy and fitted with box-cloth tops, and were continued by a pair of heathermixture stockings

of a big diamond pattern ending, in very bright patent-leather boots. The proud possessor of these was on the ferry and evidently out with the intention of "giving the girls a treat," for he didn't sit down the whole way across, but paraded up and down the deck so that all could have a good view of his beautiful brown legs.

He looked so pretty; but his calves were rather of the broomstick order. Another sweet confection, as the fashion papers say, was worn by a young gentleman at the V. R. C. Sports.

It was in the shape of a necktie, and was of a bright emerald green, with magenta and yellow spots. Many folk turned away after gazing on it. I suppose they were envious. Flannel suits are much brighter this year. A very talking suit I saw the other day, was of a rich olive green with a yellow stripe. This in conjunction with a pink shirt, red tie, khaki waistcoat and white boots looked very chic. Plum coloured flannel is also much affected for coats

just now, and looks much smarter than brown with a red stripe, which some folks are wearing. By the way, it is no longer fashionable for a bachelor to wear a flower in his buttonhole. The proper thing to do is to wear your best girl's brooch. The brooch should be as big and conspicuous as possible, as the larger and more valuable it is the richer your fiancée is supposed to be. If you haven't got a best girl it doesn't matter, as cheap silver gilt brooches set with paste brilliant can be obtained for a moderate sum at any jeweller's. Watches are no longer worn in the pocket. They should be attached to a wrist-strap and consulted upon every possible occasion. If you learn to shoot your watch out of your cuff with the proper flourish, you will be taken for a military man, and it pleases

THE LUXURIES OF THE GORGEOUS EAST.

RICKSHAWS ON BICYCLE WHEELS.

A Big stride towards rendering infinitely more comfortable one of the chief means of locomotion in the East has just been made by a Colombo firm, through Mr. G. C. Gann, who has recently patented a steel frame, which can be attached to the body springs of an ordinary rickshaw, and which carries a pair of pneumatic-tired ball-bearing wheels. The entire absence of vibration or noise, and the ease of running derived from the resiliency of the pneumatic tyres, give a sense of extreme luxury which the jaded Easterner knows well how to enjoy. And this feeling of luxury is enhanced by the assurance that the wheels will not "come off"—a whim which is not altogether unassociated with the ordinary type of rickshaw. With Mr. Gann's patent each wheel is bolted between a pair of forks, which, it is claimed, would hold the wheel even if a nut were lost. The sizes of the wheels are those used ordinarily in bicycle construction, viz., 26" 28" or 30" diameter, and they have been adopted with the view to cheapness and to overcome any difficulty as regards replacement of either tyres or rims. Other points of importance are the reduction of friction by the use of ball-bearings, lightness and strength of construction and perfect balance. Five of the new type of rickshaws are now running in Colombo, and the representative of a paper published there, who was given a trial trip in one of them, seems to have enjoyed the experience. The whole cost of a new style rickshaw is about Rs. 40.

MAX O'RELL'S OPINION OF KING EDWARD.

Max O'Rell, who is acting as London correspondent of the San Francisco Examiner, has been telling his readers about King Edward. This is what he says:—

"During the past few months England has witnessed without surprise but with lively satisfaction the assiduity, the wisdom, and the many-sided sympathy which King Edward brings to the discharge of his duties. He is everything that the President of a Republic can be. He has from his earliest years been brought up to the business of statesmanship. His experience is that of a man who has practically always been in office. His impartiality is made easier by his independence of, and his superiority to, all political parties. The late Queen has been succeeded by a son, brought up in her school, who thoroughly realises her character and her modes of action, and who is stepping carefully in the footsteps by which she expressed her constitutional attachment to the institutions of Great Britain.

"King Edward is a success and as the formal coronation will add to the deep feelings of loyal affection which united him with the people of the land, there is no doubt that he will respect the constitution as his mother did, but there is not a doubt that he will have more influence than she had in the direction of affairs. He will not efface himself so much and the dignity with which he conducts himself shows that King Edward has parted company with the ex Prince of Wales. Yes, a decided success he is. Nothing but admiration and praise are expressed everywhere.

"Never was the English monarchy more firmly established than it is to-day, for it is based not upon hereditary privilege or legal enactments, but on the hopes, the sentiments and aspirations of a grateful and loving people.

"One of the most curious perquisites in connection with the coronation is the right of one of the peers to claim the bed and bedding used by the heir apparent on the night preceding the coronation. In olden times this was a perquisite of considerable value, as the bedding usually consisted of richly embroidered coverlets of velvet of silk with priceless hangings of cloth of silver or gold. Now-a-days, of course, it is of less value, excepting from the point of view of quaintness of the privilege. If the Duke of Cornwall has any particular fancy for his own bed it would be advisable that he should not sleep in it on the night before the coronation. I am told it will undoubtedly be snatched from him. It is England, the most modern and go-ahead nation in Europe, that has most religiously kept its ancient customs, even the most ridiculous."

A WOUND-STITCHING MACHINE.

Dr. Paul Michel, the famous French physician, has invented a remarkable instrument for stitching wounds. With this instrument wounds on a body can be stitched effectively, quickly, and without causing any pain to the patient. Heretofore wounds were stitched by hand, and this operation was not only somewhat dangerous and slow, but also decidedly painful.

Dr. Michel's instrument consists of a forceps or pincher, and of a case or sheath, which contains a number of nickel hooks or bands somewhat similar to those which are frequently seen on the corners of cardboard boxes. A slight pressure suffices to free these hooks from the sheath, and within one minute between twenty and thirty of them can be placed on a wound in such a manner that they will effectively close it. The reason why they cause no pain is because the tiny rounded points only penetrate the epidermis and not the lower layer of skin.

Other advantages which they possess are that they can be easily disinfected, that it is no trouble to remove them from the skin after the wound is healed, and that they leave hardly any trace of a scar.

Dr. Michel, says a London paper, has received congratulations from the most distinguished European physicians, and his instrument is being rapidly introduced into leading hospitals.

66 A CRITICAL AGE?

Recently, in the King's Bench Division, says a home paper, Mr. Justice Darling and a common jury concluded the hearing of an action brought by M. Emile Dupont, a French subject, described as a "visiting French master," claiming damages against the Great Western Railway.

The accident took place at Baker-st. Station on 12 Dec. last, and the plaintiff's case was that he was just in the act of stepping into a second-class compartment of one of the defendant company's trains when it was set in motion by the guard. Finding that he could not enter the train, and that it was fast approaching the tunnel, the plaintiff, in order to save himself from impending damage, threw himself backwards on to the platform, and as a result sustained a severe shock to his nervous system. He was a man of 56.

The defence was that the plaintiff did not attempt to enter the train until it was set in motion.

Dr. Page, physician, of Harley-st., gave evidence in support of the defendant's case. Is not, queried the judge, 56 a critical age?—I hope not, my lord. (Laughter.)

Mr. Justice Darling: May I take it, then, that in your opinion one given year of a man's life is not more dangerous than another?—Yes, it depends on your past life, whether you are going to break up at 56. (Laughter.)

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing the damages at £25.

PETER JACKSON DEAD.

Peter Jackson, the well known coloured prize fighter has died at Roma, Queensland. Fifteen months ago he returned to Sydney on the verge of death from pneumonia, contracted at Skagway, while on the road to the Klondyke with Paddy Slavin. Doctors held out little hope of Peter's recovery except through extraordinary treatment and nursing. He added tissue, and after six months was as heavy as ever, and expressed himself sound as a bell—bar an agonising attack of sciatica. When travelling with Fitzgerald's circus he caught cold in Gippsland, and had to lie up in Geelong hospital for weeks. Thence on it was all downgrade with him. Three months in Queensland (two of which were spent at Roma) failed to arrest the trouble. Weight fell off alarmingly, and the attending doctor (Le Strange) held out no hope of ultimate recovery, though thinking it possible that life might be prolonged a while. Jackson's career was remarkable. His triumphs over Paddy Cardiff, George Godfrey, Joe McAuliffe, Paddy Slavin, and other good men, and the manner in which they were scored, demonstrated unquestionably that the world hadn't previously seen his superior. Though not generally known, Jackson, prior to meeting Jeffries, was champion of the world, for "Jonnie" Sullivan (when America's top-notch) after agreeing to meet the big black at the California A.C. for a 20,000d. purse wriggled out of his engagement on the advice of friends who had seen Jackson at it, thus losing his title by default. Jackson already owned the Australian and British supremacies. Peter's battle with Slavin in London is always referred to as among the fiercest and most scientific ever fought by big men. He did little or nothing afterwards, and a few years "high time" in the English capital told the inevitable tale. Peter returned to America a wreck to all intents and purposes, and supplied an easy stepping-stone for Jim Jeffries towards qualifying to meet Fitzsimmons, Corbett, Sharkey and Co. Chagrined and broken-hearted at his vanquishment Peter gave way to dissipation for months. Resultant enfeebled system and consequent greater susceptibility to disease were the primary causes of the famous black's demise while yet under 40.
